

You are given a login page for a Facebook website. The login page includes a username and password field and a login button. Your task is to create test cases for this login page.

Instructions:

1. Create a test plan
2. Create at least 5 test cases to test the login page.
3. Write a brief description for each test case that includes the expected result and any test data or input required.